GREAT SWIMMING.

A short time since, says Gallignan's Messes ger, eight of the best swimmers of the Aming garrison of Bregenz engaged for a wager swim across Lake Constance, from that town; swim across Lake Constance, from that town in the Tyrol for Lindau, a distance of nearly similes. They started at ten o'clock, and at the minutes before three o'clock a private soldier named Tutaja, reached the bridge at Lindau. I 32 minutes afterwards he was followed by Lieng Constantiation. The six others only west. 32 minutes afterwards ne was followed by Licot Cepharowitch. The six others only went a bout half the distance, and then were taken in to the boats that attended them. The wind was blowing from the west, and the temperature of the water was 17 degrees of Reaumer, or 70 1 the water was 17 degrees of Reaumer, or 70 1 4 of Fahrenheit. This is perhaps the greates distance ever traversed by swimming in frest water. The two men who completed their tas

There has been a great deal written lately about the culinary and medical virtues of the Tomato, and all kinds of paragraphs have been going the rounds of the papers respecting it, but the fullest information on the subject we have yet seen has appeared in the Cincinnati Advertiser, from which we make the following extracts.

THE MODE OF PREPARING THE TOMATO FOR THE TABLE.

1st. The raw Tomato.—In this state the ripe fruit should be plucked from the vine, and sliced up in vinegar, like cucumbers, with a little per-up in vinegar, like cucumbers, with a little pep-per and salt; or it may be eaten like other rips fruit without seasoning.

2d. Tomato Sauce.—Parboil the ripe Toma-toes until the skin will slip; peal and mash them, and add to every pound of the Tomatoes Loz. of butter, seasoned, with penner and salt, and of butter, sensoned with pepper and salt, and simmer over a slow fire until perfectly cooked. If, however, toast should be added to the same, the proportion of butter should be increased.

3d. Fried Tomatoes .- Ripe Tomatoes sliced up, and fried in butter, are, to many quite deli-

4th. Tomato Pickles .- Pickles are made of the green fruit, by the same process that you would observe in the pickling of cucumbers, or other articles. The ripe fruit may likewise be pick-led, and in fact it is the preferable article; as it is in that case highly medicinal, and has much

5th. Tomato Catchup, (Ketchup.)-Take a peck of ripe Tomatoes, (or any other quantity, only observe proportions,) mash them well together, and simmer over a slow fire until they are dissolved; after straining through a fine seive (which requires some pains by mashing and forcing the pulp through the wire with the hand) add to this liquid, or pulpy mass, half an ounce of cloves, and the same quantity of black perper, I root of garlie, 3 ounces of horse radish, and a sufficient quantity of salt to make it palatable; boil all these ingredients together over a gradual fire until you reduce the bulk to ore half; then to each quart add 2 table spoons full of vinegar. When it is cool, cork it up in bottles, and in a little time it will be fit for use. It should be placed in a cool cellar, and suffered to remain for sometime, as it improves by age. Tre addition of some English Walnut liquor to the Ketchup, will greatly improve its flavor.

Some persons soldom have a relish for the Tomato, at first, in any form, but when they earn to like it, they generally become extravagantly fond of it in all its preparations. I am satisfied that no person will be without the article, after he becomes acquainted with its virtues, and accustomed to its usc.

DEATH OF MR. BARRY. The following letter from F. B. Ogden, Esq. U. S. Consul for Liverpool, contains the painful intelligence of the death of Major BARRY, our Minister to Spain. "No man, (says the Globe, in announcing his death) over exhibited more amiable traits of private character than Mr. amiable traits of private character than Mr. Barry. His manners were of the softest, blandest, kindest cast. Benevolence, generality and the nicest sensibility, were striking thits of his lift and indeed, his very faults and misfortunes grewout of an over confiding and conceding nature."
